BIGGER EACH YEAR...

As promised, the Fifth Annual Elba Fall Festival topped all that have gone before.

Each year Fall Festival sponsors promise that it will be the best yet. Each year they do just that.

There are too many deserving of credit to single any one for special mention. It was a perfect example of teamwork. Each man and each woman, taking part in the project, did an outstanding performance.

It is Elba's way of showing appreciation to Western Coffee County for their continued patronage of Elba businesses which have continued to make Elba the hub of Western Coffee County.

It was a great day—one that will be long remembered by everyone who was in Elba last Saturday.

Big Government Growth Decried

Kasper W. Anderson, member of the Elba Rotary Club, asked the club at luncheon Monday:

"What has happened to our American way of life?" and "What has happened to patriotism?"

Mr. Anderson reviewed that America was founded upon individual initiative, and hard work as a means of getting ahead, yet there has developed a widespread attitude that "The government owes me a living."

He recited a list of figures showing the decrease in the number of farms and farm workers, continuous increases in the size of government expenditures with expenditures ahead of income, and added:

"It is almost an annual affair to increase social security taxes."

Hendrick Jeter displayed an extensive stamp collection with explanations at the previous meeting.
